

Why is it that the NBA is trying to stop another company from haveing a quality product. Is it because they are not capable of carring the same quality. I think that the NBA should leave XM Radio alone and find something of there own to mess with and take apart and hurass. We the people pay for a survice and this is what we get. another company trying to take away what we the people are paying for. They need to get a life and leave XM Rdio alone.
